

Cooperative network

of teaching, research and extension in basic education schools

OBJECTIVES

- To strengthen UNIUBE's relationship with public basic education networks.
- To create spaces for dialog, reflection, dissemination of experiences and cooperation, with a focus on transforming the reality of Basic Education, based on the narratives of educators who work in school and non-school spaces, interweaving teaching, research and extension.
- To instigate dialogues and connect groups or subjects committed to emancipatory and humanizing education.
- Developing studies and interventions with educators in everyday school life, based on the demands and training needs of these educators and students, with a view to continuing training.
- Create spaces for graduates of the Professional Master's Degree Program in Education: Teacher Training for Basic Education to participate in the program's activities, with a view to continuing the dialogue on the impact of the Professional Master's Degree on their professional practice.
- Create support materials for educational activities with educators.
- Draw up and publish, together with the educators, announcements of the results of the teaching, research and extension projects in different media.
- Create a digital library with narratives of educational and training experiences sent in by educators.
- Create communities for research and communication of knowledge within school units.
- Use information and communication technologies to build and develop the Network.
